

Confidential

Revive - Loved-One project

Collaboration between TheSoundwell and your Cemetery.

TheSoundWell integrates innovative technologies and AI to empower wellness & wellbeing, meaning, purpose and joy in our life journeys.

Let's refresh and reimagine the concept of life and death

From the moment we are born, we are infused by two ambivalent messages by our parents, community, religion, society, culture and even science:

From one end, there is the illusion of stability, continuation and conditioning of the mind that there is life after death, that our life is only a gateway to other experiences in other dimensions and so on... On the other hand, even in early ages as children, we face and learn about, death (of a loved one in the family, a relative or a friend or colleague of our family members).

As we grow we keep jumping between these two perceptions - the hope of longevity, blue zone areas (where people live over 100 years old) and science advancement of replacing body parts. And the cemeteries that grow larger and larger.

What if we refresh and reimagine the concept of life and death and find the middle way:

A living person is whoever is in our consciousness and playing an active role in our perception, versus - people that are no longer in our lives for many many years . Those that never come to our minds even in our dreams. We don't think of them , they are not in our awareness, we do not communicate with them. As we say in a slang way: " they are dead to us"

By changing this perception we can revive significant loved ones and activate them back to our lives, or we can let go of people that do not resonance with our beings, drain our energies and reduce our joy in life.

AI capabilities redefine mourning of lost loved ones. We can vividize their creativity, joy, happiness and wisdom in real time and give them space in our consciousness. By doing so cemeteries may change their design to celebrating life and literally eternal life. Please view video

A business proposal

If you are a curious , creative and open minded entrepreneur in your spirit,
We would like to tell you more.

Are you willing to sign an NDA so that we could talk freely?

Looking forward to hearing from you

Be well

Avigaili Berg

avigail@vibro-therapy.com

www.avigailwellness.com